INTRODUCTION

Kabosu (Japanese: かぼす, born 2 November 2005), the female Shiba Inu featured in the original meme, is a pedigree puppy who was sent to an animal shelter when her puppy mill shut down. She was adopted in 2008 by Japanese kindergarten teacher Atsuko Satō and named after the citrus fruit kabosu because Sato thought she had a round face like the fruit.

Doge is an Internet meme that became popular in 2013. The meme typically consists of a picture of a Shiba Inu dog accompanied by multicolored text in Comic Sans font in the foreground. The text, representing a kind of internal monologue, is deliberately written in a form of broken English.

The meme is based on a 2010 photograph, and became popular in late 2013, being named as Know Your Meme's "top meme" of that year.

A cryptocurrency based on Doge, the Dogecoin, was launched in December 2013. The Shiba Inu had a notable presence in popular culture in late 2013. Toward the end of the decade and the beginning of the 2020s, the meme saw a resurgence in popularity due primarily to its association with Dogecoin, which itself hit a market capitalization of over $90 billion in May 2021. Several online polls and media outlets recognized Doge as one of the best Internet memes of 2010
